

Flora Heading for Florida, 42 Known Dead

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane Flora, a killer storm that has taken at least 42 lives, lashed the central Bahamas with howling gales today and drew an uneasy bead on south Florida.

While still battering Cuba, her long northerly arm reached out to Ragged Island in the Bahamas and near hurricane winds were recorded.

Although not quite free of Castro's island, Flora's northeast quadrant, the most powerful and deadly, whipped over the warm, blue Atlantic, reviving the top winds from 85 miles per hour to 115 m.p.h. within a few hours.

Flora's erratic trail of devastation across Haiti and Cuba left forecasters without solid data to accurately predict her next move. But early today she beat a west-northwesterly to northwesterly course that left the Bahamas and Florida dead ahead.

At 2 a.m., the Weather Bureau said Flora was moving about 10 m.p.h. from about 425 miles southeast of Miami.

Forecasters at Miami estimated that by tonight Flora would be battering Andros Island midway of the Bahamas. Small craft off of Florida were warned to stay in port.

At Nassau, also in the Central Bahamas, shopkeepers hastily boarded their windows. In Miami, Dade County Manager Irving McNayr told department executives to keep in touch this weekend for possible duty.

Flora killed at least 25 persons in ravaging Western Haiti with winds, whirling up to 140 m.p.h., that destroyed thousands of flimsy cabin homes. It was feared the death toll would rise sharply when restoration of communications enabled an accurate appraisal.

The Navy in Washington reported the U.S. naval station at Guantanamo Bay, on Cuba's eastern tip, escaped damage in 40 to 50 knot winds. But Havana Radio said Guantanamo City, 20 miles north, lost its electric power plant and many homes suffered roof damage.

The storm lashed crops in sugar-producing Oriente, flooded the Mayari River and paralyzed travel in Santiago de Cuba, the nation's second city.

Flora whipped free of land again near Punta Lucracia on Oriente's north coast, where hurricane winds were forecast as far west as Central Cuba.

Cuba Makes a Big Land Grab

HAVANA (AP) — The Cuban government Thursday night ordered the nationalization of all private holdings over 193 acres.

But the government announced in a decree "special exception" would be made for landowners who have maintained exceptional production and "have shown complete desire to cooperate with the government in its production and supply plans."

The government said it plans to push to "a maximum agriculture to fulfill the needs of the population and raise the economic development of the country."

Prime Minister Fidel Castro repeatedly has been trying to squeeze more production out of poorly run farms. The regime in the last year alternately has exhorted farmers to become more efficient and threatened to force them into collective farms.

56 Convicts Are Paroled

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Fifty-six convicts were paroled Wednesday by the state Board of Pardons and Paroles — including a second parole for convicted murder Orben Linzy Dearing of Cross County.

He was sentenced to life imprisonment on Feb. 21, 1951, for the bludgeoning slaying of Sell Smith, a Negro, at Lavesque on Sept. 7, 1950.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus commuted Dearing's life sentence to 21 years on Feb. 18, 1958, and he was paroled March 7 that year.

On July 8, 1959, he was convicted in Little Rock Municipal Court for driving while intoxicated and his parole was revoked Aug. 11, 1959.

Twelve other convicts were recommended for executive clemency.

Weather

Fair and slightly warmer today and tonight.

Contestants also come from Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa, North Dakota and Oklahoma.

Delta Kappa Gammas Help Others Out

By MARY ANITA LASETER

Organized March 4, 1960 by members of Upsilon Chapter of Prescott, Alpha Delta Chapter of Hope Delta Kappa Gamma, performed a similar service in Nashville last spring by organizing a new chapter, Alpha Psi. There are now 48 chapters in the state of Arkansas of the society founded by the late Dr. Annie Webb Blanton, who was a member of the University of Texas faculty.

What are the purposes of the organization? They are: 1) To unite women educators of the world in a genuine spiritual fellowship; 2) To honor women who have given distinctive service in any field of education; 3) To protect the professional interests of women in education and eliminate unjust discrimination; 4) To sponsor and support desirable educational legislation in the interest of women educators; 5) To endow scholarships to aid outstanding women teachers in pursuing graduate study; 6) To initiate and develop a continuous program of teacher welfare designed to improve the economic, social, and political status of women; and 7) To inform the membership of current economic, social, political and educational issues that they may become intelligent, functioning members of a world society.

Dr. Blanton avoided emphasizing scholarship as a qualification for membership. While a college degree is desirable, it is not a prerequisite for membership. It was felt that the organization would be a duplication of Phi Beta Kappa, Pi Lambda Theta, and Kappa Delta Pi if membership depended largely upon high rank in scholarship. So, Dr. Blanton preferred to recognize sustained successful experience. That is why a DKG member must have a minimum of five years of experience in educational work. Active membership is limited to 10% of chapter territory.

The Alpha Delta Chapter has 23 active members and one honorary member, Mrs. O. A. Graves. Those holding offices at the present time are: president, Mrs. Marie Holt; first vice president, Mrs. Anna Mae Williams second vice president, Mrs. Muriel McLarty; recording secretary, Mrs. Helen Hays; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Mary N. Turner; treasurer, Mrs. Edith Brown; parliamentarian, Mrs. Mildred McPherson.

Each biennium two women are chosen international honorary members because of their distinctive service to the welfare of women or because of their outstanding contributions to education. Among those who have accepted membership are Judge Florence Allen, Mrs. Mary Ritter Beard; Mrs. Pearl S. Buck, Mrs. Grace Noll Crowell, Dr. Lillian Gilbreth, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Dr. Margaret Mead, and Mrs. Pearl A. Wannamaker.

Delta Kappa Gamma pioneered in selective recruitment of teachers in high schools and colleges. Since 1934 Pioneer Women Committees have prepared scores of biographical narratives concerning women who pioneered in education. Other committees work for improvement in teacher welfare, school support, and intercultural relationships.

Wants Defense for Truck Law

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Acting Highway Director Ward Goodman said Thursday Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett has asked attorneys of the Highway Commission to help prepare a defense of the new truck weight law.

Former assistant attorney general Thorp Thomas has attacked the law in Pulaski Chancery Court, maintaining it is unconstitutional.

Goodman said he would submit the request to the commission, but that the commission left the defense of the law to Bennett.

Place to Hide Mobster Poses a Real Problem

By JOSEPH A. MOHBAT

WASHINGTON (AP) — Joseph Valachi, the talkative Cosa Nostra mobster, is posing a new dilemma for federal officials — where to hide him for the rest of his life when he stops talking.

They must find a secluded nook in their prison system where the 60-year-old informer can live out his days safe from vengeful underworld killers who reportedly have placed a $100,000 bounty on his head for spilling the secrets of organized crime.

A Bureau of Prisons official admitted, "If we had to take custody of Valachi today we honestly wouldn't know where to put him."

For a while, Valachi will stay at the District of Columbia Jail, in a private cell away from other prisoners, with a television set for company. One guard keeps an eye on him.

He has been at the jail between appearances before the Senate investigations subcommittee, which resumes its questioning Tuesday. He most likely will remain there for a few weeks, a Justice Department source told a reporter. Valachi will testify before federal grand juries and talk with Canadian law enforcement officials.

But then what? Valachi is serving a life term for murder. The government is responsible for his safety. It could be sued were he to be harmed while under its custody.

The Bureau of Prisons is scrutinizing its high-security institutions across the nation in search for the ideal spot — one where Valachi can be isolated from other prisoners while not being placed in solitary confinement. So far, the leading candidates are McNeil Island Penitentiary, on Puget Sound, in Washington; Leavenworth Penitentiary, Kansas and the Medical Center in Springfield, Mo.

"But every time he names a name in those hearings it becomes harder to find a place for him," the Bureau of Prisons source said. "We've got a lot of these celebrities in prisons all across the country. And we sure don't want to put him in the middle of people who want him dead the most."

Shortly before coming to Washington to testify, Valachi was held for several weeks at the Army Signal Center, Ft. Monmouth, N.J. But the prisons official said there is no possibility of his being imprisoned on an Army post; that, he said, would be impractical.

How about hiding him in some state prison? "I don't imagine there's a state in the country that wants responsibility for Joe Valachi," the official said.

Appeals Ruling on Equipment Tax

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Peterson Produce Co. of Decatur appealed to the state Supreme Court Thursday a Benton Chancery Court decision holding that incubator equipment is taxable.

The firm maintains that $61,800 bought in Ohio in 1956-59 is not subject to the state's use tax and seeks to avoid payment of a $1,250 tax deficiency levy placed by Revenue Commissioner Orville J. Cheney.

Judge Thomas F. Butt of Fayetteville ruled that incubators did not come within the use tax exemption of "manufacturing or processing equipment."

Just What Are Celebrities Really Like?

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—What are celebrities really like? After interviewing more than 1,000 famous folk in the last 20 years, I've concluded they differ from ordinary people chiefly in having a greater single-mindedness of purpose.

When they want something they fight harder to get it, they don't let other interests divert them from their goal.

They are gifted or cursed—depending on how you see it—with a greater self-awareness than most of us show.

They are something like the reflection in a Coney Island mirror—diminished here, greatly exaggerated there.

Celebrities are alike in one respect. All dread anonymity and fear failure. Success in time becomes a monkey on their back. It is a narcotic which they require often in ever larger doses.

That is why big league performers—whether they are baseball players, business tycoons, crooners, or theater, film or television idols — usually have a clique around them. They surround themselves with sycophants because they need constantly to be assured, "You're the greatest, pal."

All celebrities are actors, whether they are consciously so or not. Had they gone on the stage, both Gen. George S. Patton and Gen. Douglas MacArthur undoubtedly would have wound up as matinee idols. So would Gen. Charles de Gaulle, Sen. Everett Dirksen of Illinois, and probably President John F. Kennedy. All had or have a built-in sense of drama and a magical sense of timing.

Not all celebrities are interesting up close. Academic celebrities tend to be boring, famous doctors pontifical, actresses shallow. Scientists are jealous, but hell hath no rivalry like two long-haired poets fighting for attention at the same cocktail party.

As for opera stars, such is sure all the others sing like frogs with the asthma. Most novelists praise no other novelist until he is safely dead.

Some celebrities are unbelievably generous, others laughably stingy. If Frank Sinatra likes you he may send you a limousine, had-wrapped, for Christmas. On the other hand, another veteran star has been known to try to get his hotel to cut down the price of his breakfast because he ate only one of the two muffins room service sent up on a tray.

The most pious celebrity I ever met was actor Bob Mitchell, who thinks it's all pretty zany; the most pathetic—Marlyn Monroe, who was destroyed by an aplauze.

But the celebrity I admire most is Gen. Omar Nelson Bradley, a down-to-earth man who never let fame or fortune turn his head—and would blush to be called a celebrity at all.

Car Hits Pole, One Man Killed

LAKE VILLAGE, Ark. (AP) — Floyd E. Fuel, 17, of Lake Village, was killed and John Clark Adams of Lake Village was injured Thursday night when their car in which they were riding struck a utility pole.

The accident occurred in Lake Village. State Police said the driver, William Thomas of the Greenville, Miss. Air Force Base, and another man, both 19, were not injured.

Notified of the governor's action in signing the anti-law-making bill, Mrs. Melsha said: "What a thrill. What a night I'm going to have."

Then she headed for her women's club to report.

President Plans to Visit More States in South

By CARL J. LEUBSDORF

WASHINGTON (AP) — On the heels of his return from a one-day visit to Arkansas, President Kennedy has announced he will visit four other states this fall, including two key Southern battlegrounds—Texas and Florida.

Texas in particular figures to play an important part in next year's presidential election, especially if Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona is the Republican nominee.

Strong Goldwater sentiment in Texas was admitted Friday by Texas Gov. John Connally, after a visit with Kennedy at the White House. But he said the President still holds a substantial margin in Texas.

Texas' electoral vote total of 25 is the sixth highest in the nation and the largest number among the 11 Southern states.

Kennedy's visit to Texas Nov. 21 and 22, an admittedly political venture, is set for three days after two scheduled appearances for the chief executive appearances in Florida.

In the afternoon of Nov. 18, he is to address the State Chamber of Commerce at Tampa and in the evening he speaks to the Inter-American Press Association at Miami.

The Florida trip is labeled non-political. But it will give Kennedy exposure in a state that he lost by 46,776 votes in 1960 to former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Florida's 14 electoral votes next year put it second to Texas among Southern states.

Kennedy's other trips announced Friday include two visits to his home state of Massachusetts and one to New York.

On Oct. 19 the President is scheduled to speak at a Democratic fund-raising dinner in Boston. On Oct. 26 he will receive an honorary degree and participate in ceremonies for a Robert Frost memorial library at Amherst College in Amherst, Mass.

Kennedy's other scheduled trip is a Nov. 8 visit to New York City where he will be honored at a testimonial dinner by the city's Testimonial Council.

Both Massachusetts and New York gave hefty majorities to Kennedy in 1960 and are being counted on for 1964 by Democratic strategists.

Sees Catholics Moving Against Protestants

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — The National Sunday School Association sees a trend toward "gradual de-Protestantizing of our nation through efforts of the ecumenical movement and current Vatican Council."

The Protestant organization cites that as one trend in what it considers a "rush to secularism in national life."

A spokesman for the association explained today that the membership believed the ecumenical movement and the Vatican Council "attempt to get church union without a scriptural basis—numerical unity without a doctrinal unity."

"We believe that there is growing evidence of unreality in the average Christian life and witness, which has resulted in crises on every front," the association said Thursday in a unanimous resolution at its annual convention.

The resolution said the evidence included, in addition to "gradual de-Protestantizing":

The Supreme Court decisions banning Bible reading and Prayer as a religious exercise in public schools.

The resolution urged daily Bible study and prayer, study groups for persons "not ready to join a church or Sunday School" and active participation in civic affairs to combat what it termed the materialism "sham and hypocrisy" in Christian life.

Warning Issued by U.S. to Latin Nations

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has raised a warning flag for any more Latin-American military leaders contemplating a grab for power.

It made an example Friday of the Dominican Republic and Honduras, whose governments were toppled in quick succession.

Going further than merely suspending aid and diplomatic relations, the United States ordered withdrawal of the U.S. economic and military aid missions from the two countries—making it that much more difficult for assistance to be resumed.

"We view the recent military coups in the Dominican Republic and Honduras with the utmost gravity," Secretary of State Dean Rusk said in a statement announcing the action.

Earlier in the day the State Department suspended diplomatic relations and deliveries of military and economic aid to Honduras.

The rapid series of actions came within a day after the Honduran army overthrew the government of President Ramon Villeda Morales and forced him into exile in Costa Rica.

The Honduras coup came on the heels of a military clique's ousting Juan Bosch from the presidency of the Dominican Republic late last month.

The State Department's announcements showed that administration officials have become alarmed that military leaders, encouraged by the coups in Honduras and the Dominican Republic, might try to take over other Latin American governments.

In his statement Rusk said, "The establishment of and maintenance of representative and constitutional government is an essential element in the Alliance for Progress."

However, high officials at the State Department cautioned against any blanket condemnation of military takeovers in Latin America.

They stressed that military juntas, undesirable as they are, could still represent progress if they ousted an inefficient regime and did not try to hold power too long.

It was pointed out that although the United States maintains that military seizures are no substitute for constitutional procedures, the hard fact of life is that Washington has to work with forces that are in power.

One object of the Alliance for Progress is to promote legitimacy and stability in the Western Hemisphere and to help develop respect for democracy.

Cries School Board Politics

SPRINGDALE, Ark. (AP)—J. O. Kelly said Thursday in an interview that "school board politics" had prompted a state Comptroller's office audit that showed he spent $1015 in school funds for unauthorized purposes.

Kelly resigned the day before the all term started "for the good of the school" after serving as superintendent of Springdale schools for 19 years.

The audit said Kelly spent the money for service to his car and bonuses for school employees.

Kelly said his bonding company had told him he does not owe the school board any money. He was under $20,000 bond while he was school superintendent.

He said the so-called bonuses were money paid for extra work done by teachers and authorized in the budget accepted by the school board.

"The superintendent has to have transportation," Kelly said. "The board approved transportation for my assistant, but not for me. This whole thing resulted from a squabble between me and members on the board."

A lot of Democrats have Republican wives, thereby proving that bedfellows make strange politics.

Ex-Presidents Manage to Keep Life Very Busy

By J. W. DAVIS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ex-President Herbert Hoover is supposed to have told ex-President Harry S. Truman one time:

"The only thing for an old President to do is to take pills and dedicate libraries."

Hoover was joking, of course; both he and Truman — and also Dwight D. Eisenhower — the other living ex-President — have managed to keep busy at useful occupations.

But they could have a bigger voice than they do in the nation's affairs. The Senate this week took a step toward giving them just that.

The Senate passed a resolution giving all ex-Presidents the privilege of addressing it whenever they wished. All they would have to do would be to give advance notice.

Similar legislation has been proposed in Congress many times, but the idea always has foundered on the rocks of indifference.

William Howard Taft put an effective quietus on a comparable proposal in 1912 when he said he could see no point in ex-Presidents being made non-voting members of the Senate. Chloroform, Taft said, could provide a more merciful oblivion.

But circumstances and viewpoints change and this time, thanks to the persistence of Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., it got through, although it didn't go as far as Pell had sought. Pell originally wanted to give all ex-Presidents the status of senators-at-large.

There is no expense involved in the proposal the Senate approved. Former Presidents already are entitled to pensions of $25,000 a year plus up to $50,000 a year for staff expenses.

Truman and President Kennedy already have the right to the Senate floor, being former members of the body.

But, Pell said, if Hoover and Eisenhower were to come in too, "the luster of our body would be even further enhanced."

Pell gave this argument to the Senate:

"We could benefit by the unique wisdom of our retired chief executives."

"This, I believe, is a much-needed step today, when the legislative and executive branches of our government too often think of themselves as antagonists rather than as allies."

"I know how much I would appreciate the advice and reactions of former Presidents when it comes to some of these rather difficult problems on which we have to vote, particularly those problems where our own Senate committee recommendations run counter to those of our chief executive."

Pell didn't have to add that most men—especially old men—like to give advice. That's a truism daily demonstrated in the Senate.

Jailbreakers Still at Large

PERRYVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Two men who broke out of a Wichita, Kan., jail remained free today, despite an intensive search by more than 30 law enforcement officers for the past two days.

Oscar Wharton, 36, of Little Rock, and John Engberg, 29, of Denver, Colo., broke out of the Wichita jail Sept. 25, but were apprehended near Little Rock last weekend.

While being taken back to Wichita, where they had been held on armed robbery charges, they overpowered two officers and escaped again.

Tuesday they were spotted by a State Trooper and abandoned their car when they saw a roadblock ahead. The search centered in the Thornburg area, six miles south of Perryville and about 30 miles west of Little Rock.

This Priest Is Also a Scientist

By BOB HORTON

OAK RIDGE, Tenn. (AP)—In a day of space flights and atom-smashing, William Grosvenor Pollard is, as he puts it, a "freak," because he is both a scientist and a priest.

In science, he is Dr. Pollard, an outstanding physicist who heads the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies, a sort of atomic university, which began as his brainchild in 1946.

In religion, he is the Rev. Mr. Pollard, a one-time agnostic now priest associate of the St. Stephen's Episcopal Church at Oak Ridge, and priest-in-charge of a parochial mission at nearby Clinton.

Perhaps the best way to explain how he came to assume this dual role is to say it was grace. Pollard can't pinpoint a cause.

But how Pollard came to believe as he does is secondary to what he believes: That despite—and, paradoxically, because of—great scientific advances, this is a dark age, comparable to the centuries before the Renaissance.

"The passion of science, the attempt to understand everything about this world, has become so dominating people are no longer able to conceive the supernatural," he says. "The whole idea of a world which goes beyond time, space and matter has vanished."

Supernatural at first doesn't seem to fit in the vocabulary of a man who worked on the Manhattan Project, leading to the atomic bomb, who has researched Beta radioactivity, gaseous diffusion and neutron diffraction.

But, Pollard says, a scientist peeping into the sub-atomic in search of the world's origin must be led to a moment when it all began, "toward the supernatural ground upon which the existence of all finite created things must rest."

Pollard was ordained an Episcopal priest in 1954 after he began attending church mainly to please his wife and set an example for their three sons.

In his office, executive director Pollard, a soft-spoken, balding 51, wears clerical collar and occasionally smokes a cigar with a visitor.

"There is a universal incapacity of people today to respond to the unique event, as the resurrection and the ascension of Christ," he says. "I find instead an exclusive concern with the natural and man-made."

"This is one flaw of science: It explains only the regular and the repeatable. Therefore, miracles have no place in modern thinking."

Wonderous Sight, Colors of Space Told by Cooper

By HOWARD BENEDICT

AP Aerospace Writer

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—The wonderous sights and colors of space were described vividly today by astronaut Leroy Gordon Cooper Jr. in the final report on his 22-orbit mission.

The report, presented at a conference summarizing the results of the Mercury man-in-space project, contained no new disclosures on Cooper's flight of last May 15-16.

But his personal observations of the space environment were a brilliantly etched record of phenomena witnessed by only six Americans and six Russians.

"I never tired of looking at the sunsets," remarked the 36-year-old Air Force major, who saw 22 of them during America's longest manned space flight.

"As the sun begins to get down towards the horizon, it is very well defined. It is a very bright white; almost the bluish white color of an arc lamp. As it begins to impinge on the horizon, it undergoes a spreading, or flattening effect."

The sky begins to get quite dark... this light spreading out from the sun is a bright orange color which moves out under a narrow band of bright blue that is always visible throughout the daylight period.

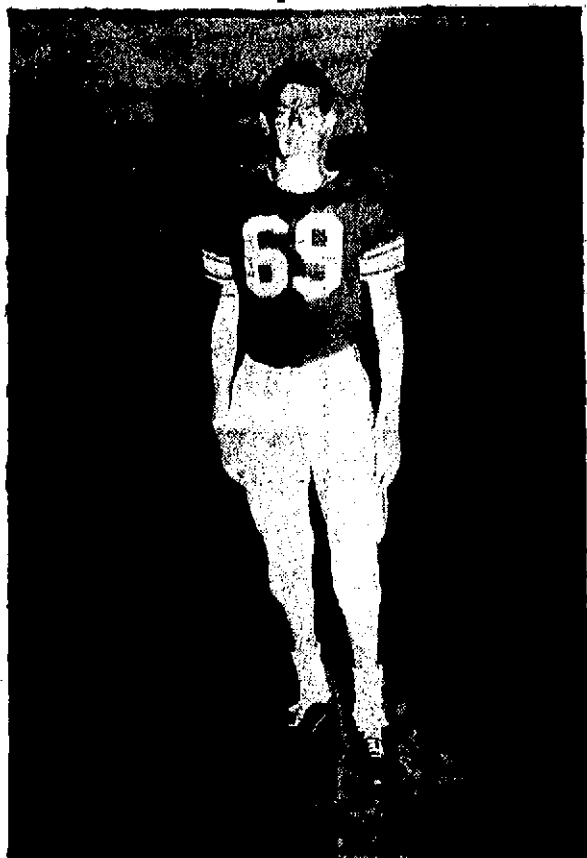

"As the sun sets farther, it is replaced by a bright gold-orange band which extends out for some distance on either side, defining the horizon even more clearly. The sun goes below the horizon rapidly, and the orange band still persists but gets considerably fainter as the black sky bounded by dark blue bands follows it down."

Cooper said that at night he could see lightning flashing within groups of clouds.

The moon, he reported, was quite bright at night. But in daylight it was a lightish blue color.

"When there is no moon," he said, "the earth is darker than the sky; there is a difference in the two blacks. In general, there is more light from the sky; the sky is a shining black as compared with a dull black appearance of the earth."

THE STORY: Detective Barcello pays another visit to Blake Carden concerning the search for an embezzler named Gibbon. He hints that money later paid to the embezzler possibly as blackmail came from Blake.

XVIII

"I can't help doubting that this is a coincidence, Mr. Carden. In fact, I'm sure it's not. Now, why did you... two weeks ago... give $1,000 to George Gibbon?"

"Then," Barcello continued smoothly, "you gave $2,000 to Mrs. Hayward, and she turned half over to Gibbon?"

"Nothing of the sort—and even if I had, I don't know why she should."

With a faint frown Barcello went at it from another angle. "After you withdrew your two thousand, did you keep it for yourself?" And after a silent on Blake's part: "If not, who did you give it to, and why?"

"I won't answer that."

"I think you ought to, Mr. Carden, for your own benefit. I said yesterday that Gibbon is expecting to pick up still more money somewhere, to use in making restitution to Masters-Stowell. Is he counting on part of the money you withdrew yesterday?"

"Get this straight, Lee. I repeat, I haven't given so much as a dime to Val Hayward. I know of no connection between Val and Gibbon—if there is one, which I doubt."

"Mr. Carden"—Barcello's fist was even harder inside its velvet glove—"what did you suddenly need three thousand for?"

"That's all. I'm fresh out of answers."

"Ah? Then you have good reason for refusing."

Blake leveled a finger at him. "Listen to me, Lee. Gibbon is a liar, but one who probably won't be prosecuted. Aside from that, these questions of yours don't relate to any illegal act, including his. Actually... as to Val Hayward, my withdrawals and Gibbon's source of extra money... you're not investigating a crime—not as far as you know. So I ask you, just what are you investigating?"

Blake laughed. "In that case, who is the blackmailer? Gibbon, or Val Hayward, or both jointly?"

You think I am. No. If it's actually necessary for me to tell you there isn't any basis, and never has been, the answer is a big round no. He shook his head, laughing again. "Lee, admit it—you're fishing in the dark. That's the only reason you have for coming at me like this, and it's not good enough."

Barcello shrugged.

"Of course, Mr. Carden, we both know you're entirely within your rights. This is the sort of thing I'm always coming up against. People resent my job and insist on making it harder. You won't co-operate with me, so"—another shrug—"I'll have to dig up the facts in some other way."

"You'll only be wasting more of your time."

Almost sadly Barcello said, "I hope so, Mr. Carden."

As he spoke, a light tap sounded on the door. It opened and Jean stepped in.

looked down at Blake as if suddenly seeing him in a different light.

"The chief of police here in Fernand Beach has asked my office to take over a case. He thinks it will turn into a big one, ticklish to handle, and he's probably right. Mrs. Hayward was found dead this morning. Dead on her boat in the bay—murdered."

Here it was, breaking from an unexpected quarter. Blake stiffened to his feet. Jean came quickly to his desk. They watched the alerted Barcello crossing to the door. He paused there.

"I'll be seeing you again, Mr. Carden—soon. I'm in charge of the investigation."

Ruth's phone call came one minute after Barcello had left. Her voice went on to repeat the news he already knew—knew and had known longer and far more closely than anyone else except Todd.

"I just can't believe such a dreadful thing, Blake. It hit Dad hard... and Mother's so worried about him. I called you first... because you're Val's lawyer and you're the closest. I'll call Todd next."

And Todd would make a convincing show of shocked disbelief. "Help Tessa look after Win," Blake suggested for the sake of keeping her busy. "I'm coming." Disconnecting, he added to Jean, "Cancel everything. With Lee running this show, he'll take all the time he wants."

"Blake, how can I help you?" He put his hands on her arms and looked into her frightened eyes. "You'll probably have your turn."

Portions of Woman's Body Are Uncovered

CHICAGO (AP)—Portions of a woman's body found scattered over Lake County during April or May have been identified as belonging to a former nurse's aid at two Chicago hospitals.

Robert H. Babcox, Lake County coroner, said Wednesday a positive identification was made by comparing old and new X-rays of the body parts.

The woman—Mrs. Wilma Jeanette Hassan, formerly of Johnston City, Tenn.—has been missing since April 6, police said.

Five days later, boys playing near the Des Plaines River in suburban Gurnee found a woman's right leg floating in the water, wrapped in blue and white plastic and tied with twine.

On May 4, a woman's rib cage and right thigh were found similarly wrapped under a viaduct north of Wauconda. Eleven days later, a left leg was found in a ditch south of Libertyville similarly wrapped.

Police quoted the woman's husband, Mohsin Abdul-Amer Hassan, 34, an immigrant from Baghdad, Iraq, as saying he last saw his wife at O'Hare International Airport April 6. Hassan, who is employed by an exterminator company, said he and his wife had agreed to send their 3-year-old daughter Lynn to Hassan's parents in Baghdad because of financial and domestic problems.

San Antonio Has Become Integrated

By CHARLES GREEN

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—A Negro airman and his girl dance to soft music in a night club. All others on the floor are white.

This happened last week in San Antonio—a Southern city by geography, a military city by history and an integrated city by choice. It happens every day.

And because these things happen in San Antonio, the city expects to feel no effects from a controversial directive from its biggest spender, the Defense Department.

The directive orders base commanders to require that all men in uniform, regardless of race, get equal treatment of the base. Some congressmen attacked the directive as a weapon to force integration of cities near military bases.

Yet the directive is hardly discussed here—one of the largest military-oriented cities in the nation.

"Don't quote me, but we don't expect any problems at all," the commander of one of San Antonio's five military bases said. "I haven't heard of a single instance of a man in uniform being discriminated against in San Antonio."

Businessmen say they have lost no white patrons because they serve Negroes.

San Antonio, a city of almost 700,000, was founded by the Spanish as a military and religious outpost. Its oldest buildings are church-forts.

Now there are about 57,000 servicemen stationed here.

The city's economy is estimated at $1.2 billion a year. About one-third of this, $329 million, comes from defense payrolls. The manufacturing payroll is about $100 million annually.

A Negro serviceman can spend his pay just about any place he wants in San Antonio and ride at the front of the bus getting there.

He can rent or buy a home in several predominantly white sections although some neighborhoods—especially those in suburban towns—still resist Negroes.

His children attend integrated public or private schools. He works in integrated churches. His wife can try on dresses in the best shops and lunch in the best restaurants.

Yet there is a reluctance on the Negro's part, and on his commander's part, to discuss the Defense Department directive for publication. Even young Negro recruits stopped at random on a street corner asked that their names not be used.

"An airman basic has enough problems now. Why ask for more?" one said.

San Antonio, in 1955, became one of the first cities in the South to integrate its public schools. Since then, every public-owned facility has been opened to all races.

Small-Type Girl Is Belting Out Some Loud Songs

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The small-type girl with the large-variety voice is belting out songs on the Sunset Strip after 2½ years of exile in the nursery.

Shes Pat Suzuki, the petite Japanese-American who starred in "Flower Drum Song" on Broadway. Her career was eclipsed after her marriage to photographer Mark Shaw and the birth of their son.

Her return to show business came shortly after her husband called her at their New York apartment one day. He described an exciting fashion layout he was shooting and then added, "and how is your day?"

That did it. Pat, to whom bottle washing and cake baking was something less than stimulating, launched a nightclub tour in a crash program to get back in performing trim.

Her acclaim here continues a unique career. It has demonstrated the ability of talent to get ahead in the entertainment world regardless of race.

Pat's father came from Japan to farm in the California community of Cressey. The family was sent to an internment camp in Colorado during the war.

A natural rebel, Pat bounced around to five California colleges and even went through a beatnik period in San Francisco.

Pat (real name: Chiyoko) headed for Europe after quitting college but ran out of cash in New York. She heard there were jobs for Japanese girls in "Teahouse of the August Moon" and she got one, touring as far as Seattle.

She left the road company and got a job singing in a nightclub. Her leather-lunged style drew considerable attention, including that of Bing Crosby.

He helped with her first album. Even before it was released, Pat appeared on Frank Sinatra's television show. Then came "Flower Drum Song."

DOROTHY DIX

MAMA WOULD QUASH THAT CREATIVE IMPULSE!

By Helen Worden Erskine

Dear Helen: Ever since I was 11, I've felt the urge to compose songs. I find myself humming a new tune every time I do my homework. They flit through my mind in class (I'm now a high school sophomore), ring in my ears as I walk home—swell melodies that would be easy to dance to or sing.

But every time I try to pick out a tune on the piano Mama rattles pans, slams doors or talks at the top of her voice. She thinks it stupid to waste a minute on composing since it won't be my occupation when I grow up. But I was born with music in my blood and find it the one talent I care to develop. Loving it as I do, I try to learn all I can about songwriting. Again Mama discourages me. Should I go against her in this and, if so, where do I start —Debating One

Dear Debating: How can either you or your mother predict what your occupation will be when you grow up unless you decide now and channel all your studies toward that end Personally, I don't think she should try to dissuade you if songwriting is your mastering dream. Talk it over with her. You don't say what she intends you to do eventually. Whatever it is, weigh the pros and cons together.

Ceylon Alerts Armed Forces

COLOMBO, Ceylon (AP)—Ami growing labor tension and threat to strike, Ceylon's government alerted the army, navy and air force Wednesday night to be prepared to take over operation of essential industries.

Workers in the State Petroleum Corporation have threatened to work part time only if the charges of corruption in the award of contracts are not investigated.

Trade unions met this week to press for wage hikes and political rights for public servant. Marxist legislator Colvin R. D. Silva warned that if these and other labor demands were not met, there would be a general strike.

Loeb Out of Race at Memphis

MEMPHIS (AP) — Memphis Mayor Henry Loeb has pulled out of the mayor's race and told the city commission he would serve out his term if necessary, but would prefer to resign.

Loeb, 41, said he is stepping out of politics, at least for the time being, to become president of a general manager of the family-owned laundry and cleaning business.

Loeb said his decision to return to the family business followed the death last Friday of Frederick Thesmar, the firm's chief executive for 22 years.

Loeb's withdrawal left no month's race open to three other candidates: City Commissioner William Farris, Sheriff M. H. Ingram and traffic Judge William Ingram Jr.

Sectional Games Saturday May Be Interesting

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Southern California's Trojans, deposited by Oklahoma as the nation's No. 1 college football team, open their comeback bid tonight when they face Michigan State in Los Angeles.

The game, advanced to Friday night to avoid conflict with the Saturday World Series game, offers the Trojans a good opportunity. While they meet an unranked but highly respectable rival, two of the Top Ten teams will be idle this weekend and others can't gain much by beating low-rated opponents.

Southern California fell from first to eighth in The Associated Press poll after losing 17-12 to Oklahoma last Saturday. Chances are USC will be hotter tonight.

Michigan State's young team isn't considered a top contender in the always-tough Big Ten. But Coach Duffy Daugherty's Spartans romped to a 31-0 victory over North Carolina in their opener. USC is given a one-touchdown edge.

In other games tonight, Miami of Florida, riddled by a virus this week after a bounce-back victory over Purdue, plays two-time loser Tulane at New Orleans. Boston College visits Detroit, and The Citadel plays George Washington in a Southern Conference game.

Top-ranked Oklahoma and Wisconsin, No. 4, have open dates this weekend. Alabama, No. 2 after impressive victories over Georgia and Tulane, plays Vanderbilt at Nashville Saturday night and Texas, No. 3, has a night game against Oklahoma State. They may improve their statistics, but aren't likely to gain much prestige.

Other Saturday pairings for the ranked teams: Northwestern, No. 5, at Illinois; Navy, No. 6, at Michigan; Georgia Tech, No. 7, at Louisiana State at night; Pittsburgh, No. 9, at home against California and Mississippi, No. 10, at Houston.

The season's first "bowl" game, also the game of the week on national television, pairs Duke and Maryland of the Atlantic Coast Conference in the Tobacco Bowl at Richmond, Va. Duke is 2-0 and Maryland 0-2.

There are some prime sectional match-ups. Among them are Air Force-Southern Methodist, Army-Minnesota, Rice-Penn State, Iowa-Washington, Ohio State-Indiana, Kansas-Wyoming, Notre Dame-Purdue, Iowa State-Nebraska, Texas Christian-Arkansas, Kentucky-Auburn, Mississippi State-Tennessee, North Carolina State-Clemson, Utah-New Mexico, Dartmouth-Penn. UCLA-Stanford, Holy Cross-Syracuse and Princeton-Columbia.

Objection Blocks Arkansas Work

WASHINGTON (AP) — An objection by Rep. Alton Lennon, D-N.C., blocked a quick House move Wednesday to clear the way for continued work on the Arkansas River Basin projects.

Members of the House Public Works Committee sought to bypass the time-consuming Rules Committee by getting unanimous House consent to bring the bill up for final consideration without Rules Committee clearance.

Lennon objected.

Work on both the Arkansas River Basin and the White River Basin projects is scheduled to end by Jan. 1, 1964, unless more funds are allocated.

The House and Senate have not been able to reach agreement on how much money should be authorized to keep the projects going, or on which projects should get funds.

Hope Smothers Malvern, Takes District Lead

By CARTER HARDAGE
Hope Star SportsWriter

A strong passing attack turned the trick and allowed the Hope Bobcats to shut out the Malvern Leopards 27-0. This was the fourth Cat victory in a row, the second in conference play.

Coach Ben Burton was high in his praise for Malvern. "We had them outmanned, but they out-fought us in the first half. But we're proud of our boys. They played a good game."

The real key to victory lay in the ability of Hope's passers. Mac McLarty was able to spring receivers into the open, where he hit them for TD's three times. Buddy Jordan also threw a touchdown pass. John Wayne Hughes showed some style on the receiving end, too.

Although the game was marred by some poor sportsmanship in a few isolated instances, by adults who were acting more like infants, it was all in all a hard fought contest for which both sides deserve a lot of credit. It is only a shame that a great many have to be hurt by the actions of an irresponsible few. So much for that.

On Hope's first play from scrimmage, QB Mac McLarty rolled out and threw to Burnett, who had gotten behind his defender, to complete it for a 74-yard romp to the end zone. PAT was unsuccessful, and Hope led 6-0.

The next action came deep into the second quarter, when the Bobcats drove 85-yards in nine plays, climaxed by another touchdown toss from McLarty to Hughes, this time for 47 yards. Jerry Walker kicked the extra point, which was good, to put the Cats out front 13-0.

On the kickoff, Nichols provided quite a thrill, by side-tepping the last Bobcat defender between him and the goal, only to be caught from behind on the 30 by Mutt Wassell. The Leopards worked their way to the 5, where, with 20 seconds left, the big Bobcat forward wall held firm, and time ran out with Malvern threatening, but Hope still firmly entrenched in the lead 13-0.

When play resumed, the Bobcats were to receive the kick. But with some sort of fakery, (not yet fully analyzed), consisting of having two men kick the ball simultaneously, Malvern got the ball on their own 49. Unable to pull anything else out of their little bag of goodies, they were forced to punt. However, Harry Ray McMahon broke through the line, to block the kick and cover it on the Leopard 20.

Here McLarty unlimbered that TD passing arm of his again for a 20-yard pass play from McLarty to Hughes. Walker again converted to make it Hope 20, Malvern 0.

Midway in the fourth quarter, Jerry Burnett scooped up a bouncing ball on the Malvern 36 and took it on in for the tally, only to have it called back. After a five yard penalty, Buddy Jordan hefted a 37-yard pass to Larry Thrash, who took it all the way to the 4 before stepping out of bounds. After two more plays, Jordan unleashed a 3-yarder to Johnny Samuels for the score. Walker kicked his third PAT of the night to make the score Hope 27, Malvern 0, where it stayed until the final buzzer.

Individual statistics: McDowell, 5-21; Burnett, 6-21; McLarty, 8-21; Moses, 3-12; J. Samuels, 2-5; Wassell, 2-4; Jordan, 1-5).

YOU IN THE CHURCH THE CHURCH IN YOU

Character is a by-product of the church. It is here that young and old alike are showered with benedictions that fortify and influence for a better citizenship and a stronger democracy. In the church the ministerial are molding religious character. Statesmen today declare that the church alone can furnish leadership to handle the affairs of state in these perilous times. Then we with our children should go to the church of our choice on Sunday. "You in the Church and the Church in you" form a combination for good. Be a regular CHURCH-GOER and a daily BIBLE READER.

Williams Newspaper Features
P. O. Box 211, Ft. Worth, Tex.

Today the 'Great God of Nations' is pleading for unity of mind, for brotherly love between men and for peace on earth. Jesus the greatest of teachers presented to men truths, which were then as they are now, of great importance to all mankind. His utterances, without revision, are most pertinent to modern life and make universal appeal. In them are heights which no man has scaled; depths which no man has sounded; reaches of length and breadth which no man has explored. Universally the need for blessings from the great 'God of Nations' has never been so great. He commanded men to learn of Him and promised to show them the way.

Pastors, Priests and Rabbis are pooling their interests in an effort to challenge All Nations to an understanding of the term 'Peace.' Prayers from millions of earnest seeking, warm hearted, religious people, go up to the great 'God of Nations' every day for those men who are entrusted with our destinies.

Millions are now saying of Jesus: "There was the true light, even the light which lighteth every man, coming into the world." Whether judged by subject matter, the method of its presentation, or its effectiveness in influencing life... Jesus enjoys pre-eminence among teachers. If men would but seek out His will; if world leaders would but ask His guidance when difficult, international problems arise... then solving them would not be such a surprise, for in Him men of faith find all things possible.

THE CHURCHES OF THIS COMMUNITY ARE THE ONLY INSTITUTIONS WHICH HAVE AS THEIR MAIN FUNCTION, THE TRANSFORMING OF HUMAN LIVES. THEY ARE THE SIGN BOARDS POINTING THE WAY TO GOD.

Sponsors of these messages urge faithful church support. Through these pages the appeal is for all men to stand up and be counted... to combat Communism on all fronts... to be faithful to God.

OUR PASTORS ARE GOD'S SERVANTS WHO CALL THE SIGNALS AGAINST THE ORGANIZED FORCES OF EVIL. THEY INVITE YOU TO ENLIST ON THE SIDE FOR GOD...

Be Strong in FAITH, and Regular in ATTENDANCE at your CHURCH
